

A long, low-profile metal shelving unit, likely for a laboratory or office. It features three main sections, each with four rows of open shelving. The shelves are made of perforated metal. At the bottom of each section is a large, solid metal drawer. The unit is constructed from a dark metal, possibly steel, and is shown against a plain white background.

Confezione: 1

Link al sito