

A 3D rendering of a modern, light gray storage unit. The unit has a rectangular shape with a slightly angled top. The top section consists of a dark gray tray divided into several small compartments. Below this are two drawers with black handles. The main body of the unit is light gray and features a large roll-up front panel. The right side of the unit is perforated with a grid of small holes, likely for ventilation. The unit is shown against a plain white background.
